Laura Ann Hemmeter In The Crib Grandpa Made

In April of 1974, with Laura Ann at the age of five months, Betty and Rich made a visit to Northbrook so Gladys and I could get acquainted with our new Grand Daughter.

This also gave Laura's Great Grandparents, Nellie and Jack Potter, an opportunity to see their first Grandchild. While Laura was with us, we invited some of the Wisconsin relatives to come down to see little Laura as well.

For this occasion we resurrected the crib I built for Laura Ann's Mother, our daughter Betty, some 27 years earlier when we were renting Wozniak's cottage on Techny Road, next to Mission Crest Poultry Farm. If you have forgotten the details, go back to Book 2 page 69, and reread the origin of the crib.
